Montana's Senator Mike Mansfield makes introductions at his parents' Great Falls home where President John F. Kennedy stopped on September 26, 1963. Facing camera is Kippy Mansfield, GFC junior, who is Senator Mansfield's niece.

Thank you, God, for giving us John Fitzgerald Kennedy. He was an inspiration for all of us youth. His kindness and understanding have left us a better world in which to live. We have strongly felt his influence. Many times he challenged us to be leaders—the kind who can bring this country and this world through any crisis; the kind who believe in the dignity of all men; the kind who recognize the need of divine help. He reminded us that our wealth lies not in popularity and money, but in doing something for the free society of which we are a part.

To the memory of this great leader we lovingly dedicate this yearbook. Together we go now to meet the challenge he has left us.

Dedication

Great Falls citizens, including Central's faculty and students, gave President Kennedy an enthusiastic and warm reception during his visit on September 26, 1963. At Memorial Stadium, President Kennedy magnetized a banner crowd, endearing himself by paying tribute to the beauty of the Big Sky country.

Our 1964 yearbook is published in memory of the 35th President of the United States.

Senior class sponsors: Sister Mary Josephine, CHM, and Sister Mary Veronica, CHM.

First place winner in the homecoming parade of class floats was the seniors' "automated" brand, stamping "GFC" repeatedly in token of the promised Mustang victory against the Missoula Spartans. Missoula upset the hopes with a 27-7 win.

For the annual Christmas assembly, seniors held a "singalong" of Christmas favorites against a backdrop of sparkling holly and lettering.

"Wild and Woolly West" was the homecoming theme--and Val Dickerson, Judy Keller, Ruell Reeves and Sig Person knew it.

Among valuable Centralites to graduate in 1964 are several Library Club members, including Janis Thompson, Barbara Frediani, and Lynn Tacke. Librarian Sister Miriam Rita, CHM, is with the club officers.

One last look. Four years have slipped by with hardly a backward glance. These halls have witnessed work, play, laughter, dreams, prayer--and from these halls six score seniors emerge better persons. To Central we owe our growth in ideals and our desire to make a contribution to the world's betterment by the lives we will lead.

"If we can persevere, if we can in every land . . . look beyond our shores and ambitions, then surely the age will dawn in which the strong are just and the weak secure and the peace preserved."

MOST REVEREND WILLIAM CONDON
Bishop of Great Falls

MOST REVEREND ELDON B. SCHUSTER
Auxiliary Bishop of Great Falls

With gratitude

Central's 775 students recall that GFC exists today because of the vision and the ideals of their excellencies, Bishop Condon and Bishop Schuster. Under Bishop Condon's direction, the then-Monsignor Schuster supervised erection of the $800,000 diocesan school to accommodate an expanding high school population. Faculty and students of three private high schools--St. Mary's, Ursuline Academy, and Saint Thomas--coalesced under the principalship of Father Patrick Moran when GFC opened its doors on September 5, 1950. Registered were 106 freshmen, 83 sophomores, 67 juniors, and 53 seniors, a total of 309--or forty per cent of the enrollment fourteen years later.

Centralites are grateful to the bishops, the pastors, the local citizens, the principals, and the teachers who have provided Great Falls with a fully accredited Catholic secondary school where scholastic, moral, spiritual, and physical goals may be realized.

"The American builds best when called upon to build greatly. Arouse his will to believe in himself, give him a great goal to believe in, and he will create the means to reach it."

Spiritual clubs meet weekly
